Garbage deal still in works

By Peter Crosby

It could be another two or three months before a deal is finalized between the town and a private contractor for garbage pickup in Didsbury.

"Negotiations are continuing," said Didsbury's Chief Administrative Officer Mike Storey, last week.

Town council had hoped to turn the garbage deal over to the contractor, Just-Jo-Ken Disposal, sometime in January but because of the time necessary to iron out all details, it could be March before it happens.

Coun. Neville Marshall of council's public works committee, said the idea of going private is to cut costs.

Look sharp

Town of Didsbury employees should look good in the public eye, town council decided last week.

As a result, council adopted a personal appearance policy for all municipal employees.

It doesn't mean that garbage collectors will be expected to wear tuxedos, said Chief Administrative Officer Mike Storey.

"The policy calls for everyone to present themselves in a neat, businesslike manner, keeping the image of the town in mind," said Mr. Storey. "It will call for them to pay attention to personal hygiene and dress."

The cost of disposal will decrease for the town while freeing up two town trucks and manpower.

The current residential rate, $12 every two months, is not expected to change.

The contractor and town are also hoping to work out a deal for commercial garbage pickup currently handled by town crews as well.

Didsbury has one of only three landfills still operational in the County of Mountain View. The county's waste management authority is continuing its efforts to come up with a suitable regional landfill site. That search has been going on for more than 18 months.

Here Comes Santa Claus, Here Comes Santa Claus

It may not be Santa Claus Lane and Vixen and Blitzen and the rest of the reindeer are still getting ready for Christmas eve but Santa had time to make an appearance at the Third Annual Cremona Winter Fest held last Saturday.

DHS wins Red Deer Challenge

Didsbury High School best out 11 other central Alberta high schools to win this year's Red Deer College Challenge '91 competition.

DHS achieved the highest score in the under 300 student category, winning a trophy and a Red Deer College scholarship for one year's free tuition. The tuition is to be distributed to a student or students as the high school sees fit.

The challenge competition was held during Red Deer College Open House, Nov. 21.

It involved examinations in biology, business education, chemistry, computers, English, French, mathematics, physical education, physics, social studies, rehabilitation decathlon and theatre tour.

Besides Didsbury, schools from Alix, Bashaw, Bentley, Caroline, Condor, Delburne, Eckville, Sylvan Lake, Carstairs and Spruce View took part. Didsbury scored 195, easily beating out their nearest rival, Spruce View with 186.25.

Didsbury was represented by Michael Lentz and Jason Valleau, who finished second in chemistry.

David Cousins and Greg Overwater were first in computers.

In English, Karen Widish and Tracy Shewchuk, finished third.

Jamie Gingrich and Neil Kennedy placed second in physics.

In social studies, Shilyn Anderson and Greg Schneider finished fourth.

For Christmas last year my sister Donna gave me W.O. Mitchell's ROSES ARE DIFFICULT HERE. The book is hardcover costs $26.95 and has 325 pages. Donna bought it at a book signing and it says on the inside title page, "For Noreen, W. Mitchell."

Lovely, I love W.O. Mitchell. I love the book and to have it autographed is a neat little bonus. But there is a problem. Pages 225 through 256 are in the book twice while pages 257-289 are missing. What does one do in a case like this? One cannot return it to the store. It was purchased in the Jack Singer lobby. Postage is such that I hesitate to return it to the publisher in Toronto and if the publisher did not lose it and did send a replacement it wouldn't be autographed. So what does one do?

Well first one lets it sit on the buffet, a clip over the double pages and gathering dust for about a year. Finally one gets up enough courage to phone W.O. Mitchell's number and speak to the business head of the Mitchell family, Merna. Merna will see to it that another, and this time perfect, book is available to me. She will get it autographed and if one of my children will bring her the imperfect copy she will happily make the switch. The problem, one that bothered me off and on for a year, has been resolved and if I had simply picked up the phone last January I would have saved myself a lot of frustration.

It was fun talking to Merna Mitchell. She told me about her state of health, "this miserable flu, my dear." She said that she was on the way to the University to pick up Bill and that he had been on a book tour but was coming to the end of it. They had printed 5,000 copies of the original and uncut version of WHO HAS SEEN THE WIND and were very quickly selling out. "It's simply beyond all expectations dear, we are supposed to be in a recession."

She told me that WHO HAS SEEN THE WIND, as it was originally published in Canada, was complete as Bill had written it. But when it went to American publishers they cut 9,000 words and then for some unexplained reason Canadian reprints followed the American version and all subsequent printings are incomplete. It was their daughter-in-law who discovered this. She is doing research on Bill. Merna didn't say why.

She enlarged a bit on his book tour and it sounded wonderful. I didn't tell her about my book tour. I was afraid Olds, Didsbury, Innisfail, Sundre, Ponoka and Cremona would sound kind of small time compared to Vancouver, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa, London, Montreal. . .

Mind you, I am not apologizing for my book tour. It has been absolutely great, beginning with a real corsage and V.I.P. treatment at the Olde Library Bookshoppes, a lovely big crowd and a super staff at Didsbury Library, a sellout crowd in Innisfail, sharing the spotlight with Marilyn Halvorsen in Sundre, having the support of family and old friends at Ponoka and my neighbors at Cremona. I have also had great support from Alberta Women's Institutes and Son's of Norway. I'll bet Bill Mitchell doesn't get these groups! I have also begun reading at schools and grades 7 and 8 at Westglenn were bright and charming. I'm looking forward to more kids after Christmas.

At a W.O. Mitchell reading there is no introduction. He just walks out and starts reading. You can do that when you have sold about a zillion books. I'll take all the intro's I can get and at most places it's well done. Ponoka was the least best, I had to arrange chairs, get my own water, do most of my introduction and as no one showed up to thank me, vote myself a standing ovation.

It has been fun. The book is selling well and so far no one has reported any major flaws in the construction. If anyone does find missing or duplicate pages I suggest they call Merna Mitchell. She's a dear person and seems well able to cope.

Got a grumpy friend with a bad outlook?
She'll cheer right up if she reads this book.

DHS students in Yule spirit

By Peter Crosby

Didsbury High School students are in the giving spirit.

Last week, and continuing through Dec. 13, an inter-grade competition from Grades 9 to 12 is underway to bring in goods for the Didsbury Christmas Helpers program.

The intent is for each grade to fill a box with food to be turned over to Christmas Helpers. These goods will then be distributed to the less fortunate in the community.

While students have been helping fill the boxes, located under a big Christmas tree in the school's lobby, they will have a further chance to make donations this Friday during the annual Christmas dance at the school.

Any food item dropped off at the door entitles the student to enter the dance for half price. The money for admission to the dance will also be donated to the Christmas Helpers program.

Teacher Herb Neuberger said DHS students have always appreciated the community support for its annual fundraising activities in the spring and that Christmas offers students the chance to return that support.

Parkland Agri

Annual customer appreciation big success

Parkland Agri Services (1980) Ltd. hosted its 13th annual Customer Appreciation on November 21 & 22. Customers from the local area as well as outlying points, were treated to a full day of informative seminars as well as an evening meal and entertainment event.

Over 200 area farmers took in the daytime seminar sessions which dealt with topics ranging from grain marketing, to NISA, to obtaining more value from crop inputs. Parkland's staff organized the whole event which was conducted professionally and truly indicates Parkland's commitment to its customers.

The evening program consisted of a full course beef dinner to almost 400 people, served by the Lone Pine W.I., and the entertainment consisting of a charity casino.

"Everyone had a good time," says Tony Overwater, of Parkland Agri Services, "and the winners enjoyed their role as they were allowed to give money to charity that wasn't even their cash." Parkland and its associated product suppliers all had donated cash prizes, and the winners were allowed to give the money to charities of their choice. All in all, over $1,500 went to charities that night.

"An event like this takes a lot of planning and personal sacrifice," says Overwater, "and I would be remiss if I didn't thank all of those who helped out, especially the six local businessmen who took time out to help deal the cards."

"We want to thank our customers," says Overwater, "and tell them how important they are to us and the community."

Gasoline prices remain volatile

By Peter Crosby

Gasoline prices have dipped recently at service stations in the County of Mountain View, although they still remained higher than Calgary and Edmonton.

Prices in Calgary have been in the 45.9 cents-per-litre range for the past few weeks. Just over two weeks ago, the pump price in Didsbury dropped from 52.9 to 48.9.

In Edmonton, motorists were paying 44.9 for a litre of regular unleaded gasoline.

Petro-Canada's public affairs manager for the western region, Rocco Ciano, said "market forces" had driven the price down in Calgary and Edmonton.

But he said there were signs the price was going up again in the cities.

"Some stations were up to 49.9 today [Dec. 6]," Mr. Ciano said. "From both a company and dealer standpoint we'd like to get the price back to a reasonable level where both the company and the dealer can make a fair profit."

By selling in the 45-cent range, the return was "negligible" in some cases, he said. A "reasonable" price would be in the 53 cent range, but he conceded it was "a very volatile market."

As of Dec. 6, prices in the local region looked like this: Didsbury, Olds, Sundre, all 48.9; Carstairs, 47.4; Cremona, 47.6.

"They need to know that we rely on them for our livelihood," adds John Trenholm, of Parkland, "and we need a chance to tell them. This type of function allows us to do just that!"

The evening ended with closing remarks from the staff of Parkland, and a wish to their customers for continued success.

OPINIONS/EDITORIAL

By Peter Crosby

Feds out of touch

Everyone knows the federal government of Canada is broke and desperate. But do they have to start getting the goods on people through weekly newspapers?

The latest call from Revenue Canada came Monday morning as we were driving to put another issue of The Review to bed.

"This is Lucy [someone] from Revenue Canada, can you tell me [about a new business] and their phone number? We've been informed by a reader that the information is in your paper."

Well, at least this call was different from the last one I'd received from the geniuses who collect our dough. In that instance, they'd wanted me to send them a clipping, a picture of a guy who claimed not to have paid income tax for the past number of years and was proud of it.

Both calls to our office (for some reason, I happened to pick up the phone both times), were the result, the Revenue Canada callers assured me, of concerns from duly excited citizens in this area who happen to read The Review.

So why couldn't these concerned citizens, if they were so public-minded, give their names to the high priests of tax collection, and read the desired information to them directly?

For one thing, it would have saved Revenue Canada the cost of a long-distance call. And that would have saved we taxpayers a few bucks.

I suggested to the latest caller, in a most polite tone, that she check telephone information for desired telephone numbers.

I further politely suggested that if Revenue Canada is so interested in the affairs of this area, that a subscription to our publication was in order.

Or better still, if they are so concerned with the goings-on in our neck of the woods, maybe they should come out here personally. Get to know the people. Get to know the area. Take in the scenery.

You see the problem with Revenue Canada, like most other government agencies, especially the federal variety, is their offices are in the cities.

As a result, they are totally out of touch with rural Canada.

If a citizen of Olds or Didsbury or Carstairs or Sundre wants to deal with Unemployment Insurance and its attendant bureaucratic web, for instance, he has to get himself to Red Deer or Calgary the best way he knows for a session in UIC's ivory towers.

The same goes for just about any other government service you can name.

About the only federal government service available in our towns is the post office and I won't say anymore.

Of course, as long as Revenue Canada has people willing to give them a dingle every time they see something 'suspicious' in The Review (we should be thankful we have such astute readers), agencies like Revenue Canada probably don't have to change a thing.

They probably don't even need a subscription.

Pity.

How about those Flames?

I knew they could do it. It was just a matter of time. Now the Calgary Flames will probably go on a 10-game unbeaten streak. Memo to Risebrough: Don't trade Gilmour.

Don't forget

A reminder that you can help someone who needs it this Christmas season by contributing to the fund to help Donna LePrieur, a Carstairs-area resident who has Congenital Lymphedema, a rare disease requiring the purchase of a $10,000 machine to ease Donna's pain. Carstairs artist Gwen Day is taking reserve bids on a watercolor painting to help Donna's cause. It can be seen this week at Contemporary Graphics Limited in Didsbury. A donation jar is also there to accept what you can give.

Great support for Christmas Helpers

Dear Editor:

December is quickly passing before our eyes. On behalf of those who received Christmas hampers in the past and those who helped make and distribute them I would like to thank the individuals and organizations who contributed so liberally to make the Didsbury Christmas Helpers such a success story last year.

This is our seventh year. Through some creativity of several local groups, the Ramblers, the Scouts, and the Library, the program has started very nicely. We all know that this has been a particularly hard year for many. Christmas Helpers was formed to make Christmas brighter for our neighbors who find themselves in need at this time.

Donations of non-perishable food items may be dropped off at the grocery store or at the schools. Unwrapped toys may be given to the staff at the Post Office. We particularly need games, etc., that would be applicable for the ages of 13-17.

If you can help financially towards the purchase of turkeys and additional food please contact Laurie Neufeld at the Didsbury Missionary Church 335-3629. A special thank you to those who have already given to the project.

We need to know of any family in need of this kind of support. Please phone the name, the complete address and ages of the children to Laurie at 335-3629, Linda Regner at 335-3161 or Linda Sirr at 335-2378. Thank you for your help in making this a great success.

Yours truly,

Round Table needs Action Plan

Dear Editor:

The Alberta Round Table on Environment and Economy, which was appointed in May 1990, has finally presented a report of their first 18 month deliberations. I applaud their effort to develop a vision and principles.

What we desperately require now (sooner than now) is a plan for action to guide us in "what we will do, what we will invent," and

"break-through thinking," to use words from the Round Table Report.

There must be a sense of urgency if we are to preserve the biological diversity of our natural heritage before unique habitats are degraded by human activity. We know that "there are consumption limits to the earth's resources," yet have not yet received any detailed plan for stimulating the development of renewable energy resources and conserving fossil fuels so that future generations can also benefit from them. We know that we should be "stewards of our environment" but have been given no directives for preventing the loss of prime agricultural land to urban development. We are aware that "we should foster a healthy human existence by ensuring the quality of the

GOVERNMENT NEWS

Government practicing expenditure control

Hon. Roy Brassard, MLA
Olds-Didsbury Constituency

Premier Don Getty, Treasurer Dick Johnston and Labour Minister Elaine McCoy announced recently a broad program of expenditure control aimed at reducing the cost of government. Specifically, a salary freeze for M.L.A.'s and top government officials and a 12-month hiring freeze for non-unionized civil service employees has been implemented.

Like the private sector, the government has not been immune to economic realities and these tough measures are the result of a re-examination of our financial commitments. Salaries and allowances for M.L.A.'s,

Ministers' and the Premier will be frozen for the next 2½ years. As well, the compensation for executive assistants, all senior government officials and managers, including deputy ministers and the heads of agencies, boards and commissions will be subject to a 12-month freeze starting immediately.

While approximately 3,700 officials will be effected by the wage freeze, it does not apply to the government's unionized employees whose compensation is dealt with through the collective bargaining process. Moreover, the salary freeze will not apply to "opted out and excluded classifications and positions" pursuant to section 21 of the Public Service Employee Relations Act. This group of non-management positions is comprised of professionals who have opted out of union representation, plus technical and administrative classes such as personnel officers, budget officers and ministerial stenographers.

Also effective immediately is a 12-month hiring freeze which will effect all provincial government permanent positions. While exemptions will be considered in exceptional circumstances, they will first need to be reviewed individually by the Treasury Board.

Finally, a freeze on operations spending will be put into effect for the remainder of the 1991-92 fiscal year. Discretionary travel and hosting budgets of every government department and agency will be cut by 25% for the balance of the year. Supplies, services and purchases will be reduced and discretionary grant payments will be reviewed.

While these measures are indeed tough, I believe they are necessary. By reviewing our spending partially through this fiscal year we can forecast a savings of up to $100 million. Moreover, further savings in excess of $27 million will occur in future years stemming from the freeze on hiring and salaries.

We are hopeful that the municipal, health, school and post-secondary education sections will adopt similar spending restraints. With clearly focused priorities and spending, we remain firm in our resolve to deal with deficit reduction in the upcoming year.

If you need to contact me, or just want to voice your concerns, please call me at our constituency office 556-3132 or my Edmonton office at 422-0141 (collect).

When Canadians work together we can take on the world and win.

To succeed in today's world, Canadians must be able to compete because our jobs directly depend upon it. Our competitive edge will secure the prosperity we want for ourselves and our children. Prosperity that's measured not only by productivity but by better jobs, greater opportunities for young Canadians, support for health, social and senior citizen programs - and more.

We can achieve it by investing in our own abilities and being a country that says... yes we can.

*Yes we can.
We've got the proof.*

A look at some of Canada's success stories proves it can be done... with real benefits for individuals, the communities they live in and for Canadian industry.

Hundreds of Canadian companies are achieving remarkable international success. They're creating jobs, developing new skills and opportunities for thousands of Canadians and creating markets around the world for Canadian products.

*Yes we can.
We've got the ability to build on our successes.*

We have a history of working in co-operation with others for world class achievements in peacekeeping, medicine and space exploration. Now, with business, labour, governments, academic and social groups working together, we can achieve prosperity through international competitiveness. But there is one more critical factor: Canada's ultimate potential depends on the commitment of individual Canadians.

*Yes we can.
We've got the people.*

It's time now to unite around our greatest economic challenge yet... preparing for a prosperous future. As individuals, there's a lot we can do. Put yourself in the picture through further education or skills development programs.

As parents, we can encourage our children to stay in school longer and start career planning activities sooner. As employers, we can think of training as a business investment and encourage a work environment where excellence and a commitment to learning are celebrated. Finally, as Canadians, we can become a positive part of the process through involvement in the consultations on our economic future.

NEW FLYER INDUSTRIES LIMITED

With exports accounting for 50% of sales and job creation up 82% over three years, it's hardly surprising that New Flyer Industries Limited of Winnipeg received a 1991 Canada Export Award. Already a major success in the U.S., New Flyer is now aggressively pursuing markets in Mexico, Europe and the Middle East.

STANLEY TOOLS

If investing in the future opens the door to success, Stanley Tools of Smiths Falls, Ontario certainly has the key. Over the last two years, the Company has invested millions on equipment and worker training and retraining which will double production and increase employment by the mid 90's.

Federal farm aid

Applications for the Prairie grains and oilseeds component of the $800-million federal farm aid package announced Oct. 10 will be in the mail this week to producers in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba that held a valid 1990-91 Canadian Wheat Board permit book.

The announcement was made by Agriculture Minister Bill McKnight, Grains and Oilseeds Minister Charles Mayer and Minister of State for Agriculture Pierre Blais.

The package is the second phase of the Farm Support and Adjustment Measures (FSAM) program announced by the federal government last April.

Known as Farm Support and Adjustment Measures II (FSAM II), the program on the Prairies provides assistance to producers who resided in Alberta, Saskatchewan or Manitoba on December 31, 1990 and who planted crops for harvest in 1990. Payments will be based on Canadian Wheat Board (CWB) permit book data for 1990-91. When combined with other government support, grains and oilseeds farmers will receive $3.4 billion in payments over the next few months.

A short personalized application form containing data from the individual producer's 1990-91 CWB permit book will be mailed directly to producers. Once the producer has verified the information, he or she simply signs the form and returns it by mail to Agriculture Canada for processing.

Payments will be made in two parts, with most producers receiving first instalments beginning in late December. Final instalments will be mailed beginning in April 1992.

Eligible producers that did not hold a Canadian Wheat Board permit book in 1990-91 may request an application by contacting the FSAM II administration office.

For more information, producers in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba may call the FSAM II administration office toll-free at 1-800-267-6008. Outside the Prairies, producers may call 1-306-780-8277 or write to: Farm Support and Adjustment Measures II Program, 1901 Victoria Avenue, Regina, Sask. S4P 0R5.

It is to be hoped that having found common ground in their joint vision and principles, the Round Table will be able to speed ahead with their program and put

It is also to be hoped that government will listen to what they have to say. There has been enough talking. We need action.

Hospital volunteers news

The December meeting of the Hospital Volunteers was held Monday, Dec. 2 in the assembly room of the nursing home. It was preceded by a delicious carry-in dinner. President Hazel Milne opened the meeting with the auxiliary prayer and gave each of the 16 members and four guests present a Christmas corsage.

Annie Pringle gave a detailed report of the hospital convention in Edmonton which she and the other delegates, Gwladys Bogner, Dora Johnson and Hazel Milne had attended.

According to Health and Welfare Minister Nancy Betkowski, the present trend toward keeping residents in their homes as long as possible will require the help of many additional volunteers. It was noted that volunteers in Canada contribute $20 million to their health care centres. Emphasis on treating the whole person was included in an address on The Positive Power of Laughter and in the lecture by Rev. Barry Parker on Pastoral Care. One receives as one gives he said and all become aware of the presence of God.

The delegates found the convention profitable and enjoyable and are grateful to the Hospital Board for providing accommodation and transportation.

Plans for the Christmas Bazaar and Tea to be held,

Wednesday, Dec. 4 were finalized.

Christmas oranges and ice cream cones will be given out as usual.

It was decided to purchase items amounting to $500 for the New Year's Baby.

The president closed the meeting by reading a timely message entitled The Christmas Spirit.

The annual Christmas Bazaar and Tea sponsored by the Hospital Volunteers was held Wednesday, Dec. 4 in the assembly room of the nursing home from 1-3 p.m. It was a festive occasion with tables of handicrafts and baking all decorated for Christmas to be enjoyed by the residents, their families and the staff of the Health Care Centre. Tea was served to all.

The draw for the friendship quilt made by the Volunteers was won by Joyce Topping. The in-house raffle of a beautiful doilie sponsored by the Occupational Therapy department was won by Gladys Armstrong.

The Volunteers wish to thank those who participated in this event and extend warm Christmas greetings to all.

Driving with a suspended licence? Your vehicle will be seized!

Currently, there are over 60,000 Alberta drivers with their driving privileges suspended. Studies suggest that a significant portion, up to 65 percent, of these drivers illegally operate a motor vehicle during their suspension period.

It's time to get tough and bring this to an end! Under the Motor Vehicle Administration Act, the Alberta Solicitor General and the province's police services are cracking down. Driving with a suspended licence could cost you a fine of up to $2,000, or a jail term of not less than 14 days, and your vehicle will be impounded for 30 days.

Vehicle seizure will also apply to individuals who knowingly lend their vehicles to drivers under suspension. These vehicle owners can also be fined up to $2,000, or jailed in default of fine payment for up to 14 days. In addition, their vehicle will be seized for 30 days. Before a vehicle is released to its owner, all towing and storage costs must be paid.

If you continue to drive while under suspension...

Health unit thanks home care volunteers

By Peter Crosby

The Mount View Health Unit said thank you to some of its many volunteer workers with an appreciation day in Didsbury last Wednesday.

The volunteers have allowed the health unit to maintain a home care program started four years ago. They provide a variety of functions, all of which help keep more seniors living at home than in institutions.

"There are a lot of older people who need help with different needs," said Donna White, coordinator of volunteer programs for the health unit. "In many cases people are lonely and need someone to talk to, or someone to make sure they're eating properly or taking their medicine."

Some volunteers, like Evelyn Feenstra of Didsbury, have been involved with the program since its inception. "I feel there is a real need [for the program]," said Mrs. Feenstra. time to time, she said. program has worked so well, the health unit is expanding the role of volunteers to other areas including community health nursing, speech therapy and clerical work.

There is an on-going need for more volunteers, including men and couples, said Donna White.

Since many of the patients are men, it was important to have these patients benefit from a man's point of view from She gives of her time, like so many volunteers "because you only get out of life what you are willing to give."

There are about 50 volunteers working the home care program in Didsbury, Sundre, Olds and Carstairs. They work with seniors, the disabled, the handicapped and in palliative care.

Home care program coordinator Kathy Brodie said the

The program is also effective in dealing with mothers coping with a return to their homes after a pregnancy or other hospital stays.

Anyone interested in volunteering should contact either Donna White at the Calgary office of the Mount View Health Unit or liaison coordinator for the program in Didsbury, May Brado.

Volunteers thanked

Volunteers appreciated

Fall moisture picture dry

Provincial soil moisture conditions before freeze up were dry again this fall says an Alberta Agriculture soil moisture specialist.

Moisture levels were dry or extremely dry in 82 per cent of the agricultural area of the province says Allan Howard of the conservation and development branch. The assessment is based on actual sampling of stubble fields between October 1 and 24, analysis of rainfall data, and additional information on local variability and changes from district and regional staff between the sampling dates and November 1.

"Over half of the agricultural area in the province, including virtually all of the eastern half of Alberta is extremely dry," he says. This zone extends east to central Saskatchewan and west through north central Alberta to High Prairie and Valleyview. It also includes the western portion of the Peace River region. This very low moisture rating means little or no available water is present in the soil, and if these conditions persist into spring, the risk of crop damage from drought is high.

Low soil moisture levels exist in most of the areas west of Highway 2 he adds. This area has usually been in the medium or high category. A low soil moisture level rating means the soil reservoir is less than half full.

"Conditions this fall were a repeat of 1990," says Howard. "Dry weather from July through October resulted in little or no replenishment of soil moisture reserves." He adds the fall of 1990 was the driest recorded since moisture surveys began in 1982, and this fall was nearly as dry as last year.

The exceptions to the dry conditions are scattered throughout the province. Most of these areas are rated in the medium category with moist subsoil between 45 and 75 cm. These areas include: central and northern portions of the Peace River region; a small area south of Grande Prairie; an area from Mayerthorpe southwest through Edson and Hinton to the Rocky Mountains; and, a portion of central Alberta from Sedgewick west through Rocky Mountain House with a narrow band extending north along Highway 2 to Edmonton.

One small area, northwest of Falher, is rated in the high moisture category.

Howard notes soil moisture levels can increase by 20 to 40 per cent between November 1 and seeding next spring. Overwinter precipitation is the major factor, but its effect also depends on fall moisture levels, local soil and topographic conditions, extent and timing of precipitation, timing of snow melt and the ground thaw period.

"Based on past records, the prospects for moisture recovery over the winter are good for western areas, and not as good for eastern areas or the central Peace region," says Howard. "However, early snowfalls across the province are encouraging, and spring snow and rain can improve soil moisture conditions considerably."

GST for Vehicle Trade-Ins

Planning to trade in your pickup on a new 4 X 4 for Christmas? Great idea, but be sure you understand the GST rules for vehicle trade-ins or you may be in for some surprises.

George Monner, our Regional Farm Economist in Fairview passes on the following advice.

Some auto dealers are still putting farmers, and possibly others, in the following position.

Here is an example of what may happen when a farmer trades in the farm truck:

The invoice reads:

New truck cost: $13,000

Trade-in value on used truck: $10,000

Difference: $3,000

GST on new truck: $910

Net paid by farmer to Dealer = $3,910.

The farmer may think that he pays the $3,910 and gets a GST refund check for $910 and the deal is done for a perceived net cost of $3,000.

What some farmers may fail to recognize is that they will have been deemed to collect $654.20 ($10,000 x 7/107) from the car dealer on the trade or sale of the truck. It is the responsibility of the business selling a vehicle (farmer) to collect the GST from the purchaser (car dealer). If it isn't specified otherwise, then it will be assumed that the trade-in value includes any GST payment. Therefore, the actual cash cost of trade to the farmer is $3,654.20. Car dealers (as well as others who may buy used goods for resale as part of their normal business activities) get their GST refund on the purchase of any vehicle that is bought for resale even if they do not have to pay this amount to the seller (as would be the case if they purchased a vehicle from a non-registrant).

A proper invoice should read something like the following:

New truck cost: $13,000

Trade-in value on used truck: $9,345.80

Difference: $3,654.20

GST on new truck: $910

Less GST on trade-in: $654.20

Net paid by farmer to Dealer = $3,910 ($3,654.20 + $910.00 - $654.20).

For GST purposes, the farmer will report $654.20 GST collected, and $910 as GST paid for a net refund of $255.80. As a result, the cash cost of the trade to the farmer is $3,654.20 ($3,910 - $255.80).

It is interesting to note the cost difference of the trade in either situation is the same. However, the impression of the farmer on what he is being paid for his vehicle is considerably different. If the farmer does not realize that he must pay the $654.20, he will think the cash cost to himself is $3,000. That is, until he is audited and has to come up with the $654.20 of GST he unknowingly collected on the sale of the truck.

Before you sign on the dotted line, make sure you know the real cost of the trade.

Unique horse breeders conference set

The only one of its kind conference in Canada for horse breeders and owners returns to Red Deer January 10 through 12.

"The Alberta Horse Breeders and Owners Conference has established itself as one of the best of its type in North America," says Les Burwash of Alberta Agriculture's horse industry branch. The annual conference attracts about 300 people to hear more than 15 internationally recognized veterinarians, researchers and other horse experts discuss their specialties.

Sessions in specific streams for Thoroughbred, Arabian, Quarter Horse owners and breeders are offered, as well as an all breeds program. "However," notes Burwash, "Conference registrants can attend any of sessions regardless of their breed affiliation and will also receive printed materials from all the presentations."

Topics on the conference agenda will cover a wide range of subjects including industry economics, disease, reproduction, animal welfare, conditioning and exporting horses.

Conference sessions will be kicked off with a presentation by Michelle Cameron, 1988 Olympic gold medalist, who will have a motivational message for conference participants.

Cameron is one of the "local" speakers from Alberta at the conference says Bob Coleman, an Alberta Agriculture horse specialist. Another is Muffy Knox, a horse trainer from Keoma, who will discuss tack selection. Knox's speciality is western riding and youth, amateur and novice riders.

Also from the Calgary area is Pete Fraser of High River, a breeder, respected judge and executive member of the world American Paint Horse Association. Fraser will discuss ethics in the horse industry. "His particular focus will be on competition, but he doesn't ignore any other aspects of the industry," says Coleman.

As well, the horse industry branch's Burwash will look at the genetics of horse color. "Les has a computer program he will use to work out examples such as what the offspring of a bay mare bred to a Palomino stallion might look like," says Coleman.

The conference is conducted by Alberta Agriculture's horse industry branch, the Alberta

Arabians Horse Breeders Association, the Alberta Quarter Horse Breeders Group and the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society (Alberta Division) with support from MSD Agvet, United Farmers of Alberta, Upjohn Animal Health, Ralston Purina and the Horse Publications Group.

For registration and other conference information, contact either the horse industry branch in Calgary at 297-6650 or in Edmonton at 427-6361.

Pork seminar focuses on industry challenges

Five areas that will challenge pork producers in the future will be on the discussion table at the 1992 Banff Pork Seminar January 21 through 24.

"The seminar is divided into sessions dealing with topics in areas we believe will be important to the successful producer," says Fred Schuld, head of Alberta Agriculture's pork and poultry branch and the chairman of the seminar's organizing committee.

The broad subject categories are feed and water quality, herd performance, marketing and industry infrastructure, housing alternatives and improving breeding herd management. Recognized experts from Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States will address specific topics within those categories.

"One of our international speakers will lead off the first session by looking at the impact of feed and water quality on swine welfare and productivity," notes Schuld. Peter Brooks will also discuss European developments in housing systems later in the conference. Brooks, based at the Polytechnic South West in the United Kingdom, has an international reputation as a leading researcher in swine nutrition, production and welfare. He also writes a monthly column in a British pig farming magazine.

Another U.K. speaker at the seminar is Paul Toplis, technical marketing director for the United Kingdom's largest piglet diet manufacturer. A world authority on swine nutrition, Toplis will present "Feeding for 30 kg. in 60 days."

An American swine specialist will also share his expertise at the conference. Gary Dial, a professor and extension veterinarian at the University of Minnesota, will discuss record-based performance analysis, integrated management and economic considerations, and also take part in a panel discussion on performance. Dial was instrumental in developing "Pig CHAMP," a computerized swine record system. He is also currently president of the American Association of Swine Practitioners.

Three Alberta Agriculture specialists will also speak at the seminar. Swine veterinarian Garry Finell will discuss biosecurity, or safe sex in a farrow to finish operation. Regional specialists Bert Denning and Irene Wenger will work with producers on presentations related to alternative housing.

Professors Frank Aherne and George Foxcroft of the University of Alberta's department of animal science are also on the program.

Schuld notes one change from previous seminar is the coordinating body. The University of Alberta's department of animal science has taken over responsibility for running the seminar from the faculty of extension. Registration and other conference information is now available by calling Kathy Bush at 492-2601.

The Banff Pork Seminar is designed for people interested in improving their pork production knowledge and decision-making abilities. This includes commercial pork producers, researchers, agribusiness service and supply representatives, extension and education specialists, and anyone else interested in up-to-date pork technology and production.

A & W coming to Olds

Look out Olds, the A & W Rootbeer Bear is heading your way, set for a new restaurant outlet opening around mid-March.

That's how long Jim Hadley is guessing it will take for his new A & W restaurant along Highway 27 to be finished. "We're working on it all right . . . it's all been surveyed and staked out but the hole hasn't been dug yet. I'm sure hoping for sometime this spring, but it's important to stay realistic about these things."

That theory has done Hadley well in the food and hospitality industry. Since moving to Rocky Mountain House from Didsbury 20 years ago, Hadley's successfully run a previous fast food hamburger operation and a hotel.

Now, he and his wife are back in the Olds district ready to try working at a franchise he feels will sell itself. "A & W is trying to hit the market with a top grade food product and quicker service than some of the other chains around. I have a lot of faith in the kind of foods being sold here . . . the public will be getting value for their money," Hadley says.

But starting up a restaurant outlet the calibre of A & W in Olds is actually quite a complicated process, one Hadley says has no definite hard and fast rules. "The parent company looks at the town and tries to get a feeling for what kind of food services the people will likely want. They also look to make sure there's enough interest in this kind of place from the outlying areas."

Location wise, Hadley couldn't be happier . . . even with the Kentucky Fried Chicken and Dairy Queen restaurants at his doorstep. "It's not for the competitive edge . . . they are all already well-established businesses. Studies show that restaurants clumped together in one area actually compliment each other and draw people out to each business."

Once complete, Hadley's A & W will employ about 30 people.

"I will be looking for a couple of key workers in February to help run the place but won't get into hiring the rest of the staff until at least March," Hadley says.

The rest, like the A & W name itself, will be history. "A & W has really kept their reputation up well from back in the 50's and 60's with curb-side service to mall outlets and today with restaurants and drive-thrus. Everybody remembers A & W . . . as a teenager that's where they used to hang-out."

Festival entry deadline Feb. 3

Organizers of the annual Kiwanis Music Festival in Olds remind participants the deadline for entries is Feb. 3. The 1992 Festival runs from March 9 to 27.

The Olds local syllabus is now available in all county communities, at the schools and public libraries, and from music teachers.

For further information, please contact Hugh Robinson, festival coordinator, 556-2994; Bea Dodd, entry consultant, 556-2519; or Linda Weber, society president, 224-2470.

A tentative list of adjudicators for the upcoming festival is as follows: band and woodwind, Dr. George Naylor; band and brass, Derek Stoll; speech arts, Marilyn Woolf; vocal solo, Adele Baker Kaszas; choirs and musical theatre, Marnie Patrick Roberts; junior piano, Daniel P. Morin; senior piano, Alexandra Munn.

Scrooge Approved Gift Ideas

Gifts that show you care provide both the giver and receiver with a feeling of satisfaction money can not buy.

The penny-wise shopper purchases gifts year round. A sale is a sale and should never be overlooked. To avoid purchasing three gifts for one person and none for the next, start a file card record with an individual card for each person on your list. Record each purchase promptly! As an added bonus, you will have a cumulative record and can avoid giving socks to Uncle Tom three years in a row.

Gifts of Time

We only have 24 hours each day and sharing part of that time with loved ones is the most precious gift we can give.

- A grandparent is certain to appreciate weekly lawn mowing from a grandchild.

- Neighbours may need house-watching, pet-feeding and plant-watering while they are on holidays.

- Sunday brunch with friends in March can take the crunch out of too many engagements right at Christmas.

- Babysitting is always needed by parents of young children.

Environmentally Green

- Include rechargeable batteries if you must purchase a battery-operated toy.

- To reduce the use of styrofoam cups, office workers could receive a coffee mug, sports fans and commuters a covered cup.

- Package gifts in reusable bags, either lunch bag or shopping bag size.

- Re-use and decorate plastic containers as a plant pot and give a cutting of your favourite plant or herb.

Theme Ideas

Let your imagination put together useful combinations for everyone on your Christmas list.

- For the reader, a magazine subscription, and a paid membership to your local library topped off with a book mark.

- For the far-away, writing paper, pen, stamps and an address book with your name already filled in.

- For the busy female, a bath boutique of fancy soap, bubble bath, loofah sponge and dusting powder.

- To tactfully present a gift of money attach the cash or a picture of the item a person may be saving for or clip out a theatre ad and include the words "Have a fun evening out."

For those who pay-as-they-go, the New Year definitely is a fresh start!

SUNDRE/WESTWARD HO NEWS

Ostriches make home in Sundre area

By Peter Crosby

Large, feathered creatures with long, graceful necks have taken up residence in the Westward Ho area east of Sundre.

Esper and Jackie Espersen have started an ostrich ranch.

Since acquiring Mister Ed and Mimi in September (they were purchased at Invermere, B.C.), the Espersens have added to their daily routines, caring for the largest living birds in the world.

And anxiously awaiting for Mr. Ed and Mini Mimi to mate and bring their first offspring into the world.

The ostrich is native to South Africa and is a rare sight in this area, although a few other ostrich ranches have also sprung up recently.

The Espersens, like everyone else, are into raising them for breeding purposes. Because there are so few in Canada, they can't be raised for meat, hides or feathers, all of which are valuable commodities.

"Their numbers have to be up to 50,000 before you can get into those areas," explained Jackie.

And while 50,000 may seem like a lot, the average pair of ostriches can produce 90 eggs a year.

Mister Ed and Mimi are about two years old and are ready to begin breeding.

The Espersens have built them a comfortable shed in which to live and a large pen for exercise. They need lots of room for this activity. Although they don't fly, they can reach speeds on their powerful legs of up to 45 miles per hour.

How have they felt about Alberta winter weather?

"They seem to enjoy the weather," said Jackie. "The only thing that bothers them is the wind."

Here are some other ostrich facts:

Adult males exceed eight feet in height and 350 to 400 pounds;

The female is less in weight and colored with light brown and grey plumage;

A male ostrich is called a rooster and a female, a hen;

The ostrich has two toes, all other birds have three or four;

The eyeball is two inches in diameter, the largest eye of any land animal;

The ostrich lives to be 50 to 75 years old;

The ostrich egg weighs three to four pounds, the equivalent of 25 to 30 chicken eggs;

Ostrich eggs hatch in 42 days;

Although an ostrich egg is the largest of all eggs it is the smallest egg in relation to size of the bird;

Females sit on eggs by day; males by night.

Worker killed in fall from pole

A 40-year-old Rocky Mountain House man died last Thursday when he fell from a power pole while stringing power lines near Caroline.

Sundre RCMP identified the victim as Bernard Wayne Polvi.

RCMP said Polvi fell about 30 feet while stringing lines about six kilometres east and one kilometre south of Caroline. The accident happened at about 3:45 p.m.

Investigators said there was no electricity running through the wires Polvi was working with.

They said the victim was an experienced lineman. He was employed by Belcourt Construction Ltd., power line contractors.

RCMP, along with Alberta Occupational Health and Safety, are investigating the cause of the accident but said foul play is not suspected.

Sundre realtor wins $100,000

It took Laurel Bartholow of Sundre almost three weeks to check her lottery tickets from the October 19th draw. With Luck magazine in hand, she reviewed a number of tickets that had been "put away." One of those slips of paper translated into a $100,000 winner on The Plus.

Checking the tickets at Alta-West Realty, the 35-year-old realtor "flew out of the office," heading for the Value Drug Mart, sellers of the original ticket.

Claiming the prize Nov. 19th, Laurel remains unsure what she will do with her wind-fall.

Carstairs 4-Her turns in strong showing

With a one, two, three finish in the beef classes an Alberta 4-H judging team showed their expertise in one of their province's best known products at an international competition in Regina.

Keith Evans of Carstairs, Tony Mitchell of Sexsmith and Allen Thompson of High River swept the first three placings in the beef portion of the judging seminar at the recent Canadian Western Agribition. The trio also placed in the top 10 in the individual aggregate standings with Evans seventh, Mitchell eighth and Thompson 10th.

Mitchell, by virtue of his first place assessment of the beef bull class, also won a Canadian Charolais Association award of a complete registration to a week-long beef improvement course at the University of Guelph in May 1992.

The only other team member to place in the top five of any of the classes was Kirk Sorenson of Endiang, who was second in oral reasons.

"The beef classes were definitely where our team had its best results, but the team still posted a strong performance in the overall competition," says Henry Wiegman, Alberta Agriculture provincial 4-H livestock specialist.

Other team members were Tarolyn Aaserud of Craigmyle, Jennifer Bateman of Cochrane, Tim Bowman of Onoway and Rechelle Sinclair of Lamont. Team coaches and chaperons were Rhonda Clarke, regional 4-H specialist in Barrhead, and 4-H leader Barry McCarthy of Vegreville.

The Albertans competed against 4-H teams from across Canada as well as Montana. They judged swine, sheep, dairy cattle, beef cattle and horse classes presenting written and oral reasons for their placings.

Alberta team members earned their trips during a recent provincial judging competition held during Farmfair '91 in Edmonton. The team's trip to Regina was sponsored by Uniblok Canada, a division of Superior Feeds, in Rockyford.

RCMP probe break-ins

Didsbury RCMP are continuing their investigation into the break and entry of three Carstairs businesses during the early morning hours of Dec. 6.

An RCMP spokesman said considerable damage was done to all three businesses: Carstairs

Ford, Parkview Pontiac and Amalgamated Insurance.

Damage losses had not been determined as of Monday morning, RCMP said.

The thieves attacked a safe at Amalgamated Insurance. They made off with a radar detector, two cellular phones and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Anyone with information about these crimes is asked to contact the Didsbury RCMP, 335-3381, or Crimestoppers.

Under construction

The long overdue construction of the new clubhouse at the Carstairs Community Golf Club is underway. Area golfers are anxious to see its completion.

Craig Shand of Cremona was awarded a $500 Monsanto Agribusiness Scholarship on Oct. 21, 1991 at the University of

To qualify for the award, each student had to be from a family farm and enrolled in either Agriculture or Commerce at a Canadian university. The winners were chosen based on academics, leadership and their potential contribution to the future of agriculture.

Craig is enrolled at the University of Alberta and plans to attain his Bachelor of Agriculture Degree. ### Cremona woman hurt in 2-vehicle crash

Two vehicles collided at an intersection south of Didsbury last Thursday, sending one of the drivers to hospital with undetermined neck injuries, said Didsbury RCMP.

Twenty-eight-year-old Sharon Hehr of Cremona was driving east on the Carstairs Blindline when her vehicle was struck by a southbound vehicle at the intersection with the Carstairs back road at about 10:45 a.m. The intersection is located eight kilometres south of Didsbury.

Hehr was transported by ambulance to Mountain View Health Care Centre in Didsbury. A hospital spokesman said Hehr remained hospitalized Friday and that her condition was good.

The driver of the second vehicle, Donna Korsiger, 42, of Sundre, has been charged with failing to stop at a stop sign. RCMP said there was extensive damage to both vehicles.

New leather goods shop in Didsbury

By Peter Crosby

When the owners of one of Didsbury's newest businesses were looking for a location, they decided this town offered the best opportunity for their leather goods shop.

For one thing, there were lots of horse owners in this area and there was no other leather goods shop between Calgary and Red Deer.

"We just decided this was it," said Gary, one of four partners in Awl Leather Works, located at the back of Checker Auto Parts in downtown Didsbury. "We thought Didsbury was the ideal spot for a leather workshop." The shop specializes in saddles and tack repair, including replacing broken trees and restoration.

Gary and Marilyn, along with Gary's brother Sonny and Linda, have a lot of experience in the leather goods trade. "We all have our share of things to do, everyone pitches in," said Sonny.

Gary has been practicing the trade for more than 30 years.

At Awl Leather Works, he and Sonny specialize in making saddles. "We can build a saddle in about two weeks and we can repair anything," they say.

All saddles, the western variety is stressed, are custom-built according to the customer's specifications.

And the owners said their saddles don't take a back seat to anyone. "They're the best in the world," said Sonny.

These tradesmen can also make great chaps. And, for the horse itself, they make fine hobbles and other basic tack.

Gary and Sonny both have backgrounds in rodeo too. As a result, they are most familiar with horses' and riders' needs. Gary was a bareback rider for some 14 years and spent five years trying to figure out which a way a bull would turn.

Besides rodeo, both Gary and Sonny were involved in chuckwagon racing for a number of years, working more mostly as outriders. Sonny said the late Tommy Dorchester, the chuckwagon legend who died earlier this year, was like a father to him.

Sonny also rode for such outfits as Tommy Glass and Orville Strandquist.

Both Sonny and Gary grew up in the Stettler area.

Marilyn hails from northern Alberta, while Linda calls Manitoba home.

Gary lays claim to developing a safe saddle for handicapped riders, a western saddle designed primarily for those with physical handicaps. "It's really taken away the fear for those who use it," said Gary. "It gives them great security."

Sonny stresses that all work is offered at fair prices. "Everything is based on what we would like to pay," he said.

They guarantee their work and the fit.

Hours of operation are from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday to Friday and 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

As a special service to customers, as of Jan. 1, the goods and service tax will be included in all prices.

Come and meet the gang at Awl Leather Works this Saturday, Dec. 14, during their Christmas Saleabration. Enjoy free coffee and donuts.

Enter the shop through the side entrance (look for their sign) at 1802 20th Street, in back of Checker Auto Parts.

Trumpeter swans making comeback

During the last 90 years, Trumpeter swans in Western Canada have made a dramatic comeback. From a small remnant flock of less than 100 swans, there are now about 2,000 Trumpeters summering in Canada. Many initiatives have been taken to ensure the Trumpeters' future. These include winter feeding programs, the provision of special sanctuaries, captive breeding and reintroduction programs.

The Friends of Elk Island National Park Society is leading a multi-agency partnership to bring back the Trumpeter swan to Elk Island National Park and surrounding area. The goal of the project is to establish ten breeding pairs of Trumpeter swans in and around Elk Island National Park by 1996.

Recently, the Friends completed a one year funding drive which resulted in approximately $10,000 being obtained from local public and corporate donors. Environment Canada's Environmental Partners Fund is contributing $28,500 over the next two to three years. Mr. Robert Bateman and his publisher, Mill Pond Press, have agreed to contribute $25,000 per year for five years.

Other project partners include Alberta Fish and Wildlife Division; World Wildlife Fund; Alberta, Recreation, Parks and Wildlife Foundation; the City of Camrose and the Camrose Veterinary Clinic.

The many partners co-operating in this project will ensure that adequate numbers of this magnificent bird can be relocated to Elk Island during the next five years. Due to the recent return of three adults from their southern Idaho wintering area, the spring release of four yearling

Trumpeters from Camrose, and the recent capture and relocation of two male guide birds from Grande Prairie, there are now nine Trumpeter swans summering in and around Elk Island National Park.

The Trumpeter swan was once widely spread throughout North America from the Atlantic to the Pacific. However, due to habitat destruction and predation, only 127 Trumpeters were known to exist in 1933. Today, through international and local conservation efforts over 16,000 Trumpeter swans exist in the wild. The Trumpeter swan is no longer considered in danger of extinction.

Trumpeter continued from page 16

The most serious threat to the continued well being of the Trumpeter swan is the loss of habitat resulting from the continued expansion of human populations and their activities. But with increasing public awareness and concern for the sustainable use of our wildlife heritage, it is hoped that more rational land use planning will prevail.

There are two native species of swans that migrate through Alberta - the Trumpeter and Tundra swans. Adult Trumpeter swans are very large, white-feathered birds with black legs and feet. Trumpeters have a red line on the lower bill, and feathers on the upper part of their necks often become stained orange as a result of feeding in areas rich in iron salts. The male swan weighs an average of 12 kilograms, while the female is slightly smaller, averaging 10 kilograms. Wingspan may reach as much as three meters. Young swans or cygnets can be distinguished from adults by their grey plumage, their yellowish legs and feet and, until their second summer of life, their smaller size. The Tundra swan is similar in appearance to the Trumpeter swan, but is smaller. Tundra swans sometimes have a small yellow patch below their eyes. The deep, resonant trombone-like call of the Trumpeter is quite distinct from the higher pitched whistle of the Tundra.

Environment Canada's Canadian Wildlife Service has the mandate and responsibility to insure the Trumpeter swan is restored to its former breeding range in Canada.

Grizzlys keep heat on first-place Royals

By Peter Crosby

Olds Grizzlys stayed within one point of first-place Calgary Royals in the Alberta Junior Hockey League with three wins in three games last week.

The Grizzlys, 21-6-3, started the week with a 5-3 victory over Calgary Canucks in Calgary and then skated to a pair of wins on home ice, 8-3 over St. Albert Saints on Friday and 7-0 over Bonnyville Pontiacs on Saturday.

This week, the Grizzlys will play another three games starting in Sherwood Park tonight (Dec. 10), then two home games: Lloydminster Blazers, Friday and Sherwood Park, Saturday.

Both home games will be played at the Olds Sportsplex starting at 8 p.m.

Coach Chris Stewart said the Grizzlys have performed beyond expectations so far.

"We thought at the start of the season that we'd be in the top three but we reached the halfway point of the season on Saturday just one point out of first place," said Stewart. "I'm not sure we thought we'd improve to that extent."

Although the Grizzlys have had a great season so far, the coach said "nothing's in the bank yet," and that the players will have to keep working hard for continued success.

"We've improved steadily the past month and when you're winning it's easier for the coaching staff to make decisions," Stewart said.

Having two of the league's leading scorers, Eric Fulton and Reo Lajeunesse, and leading goaltender, Larry Moberg, in the lineup also helps.

Overall the team has been playing very well defensively, too, having given up 30 goals less than their nearest rivals in goals surrendered.

Moberg was between the pipes in the whitewashing of Bonnyville and also backstopped the win over St. Albert.

The Grizzlys' other netminder, Colum Cavillia, has also performed well when called on to give Moberg a breather. He was solid in last week's win over the Canucks.

Nine receive Sport Council grants

Nine groups and individuals are the recipients in the latest round of funding ($10,152) through Alberta Sport Council grants, Big Country, Zone 2.

Ashley Barlow of Strathmore received $650 to assist with gymnastics training; Torrington Figure Skating Club, $1,000 to cover instructor fees; Karen Qually, Olds, $650, travel costs for golf; Chestermere Minor Hockey Association, $900, purchase and repair of goalie equipment; Brandy Ferguson, Airdrie, $650, travel costs for gymnastics; Carseland Community: Agricultural Society, $550, magnetic safety bases for baseball; Okotoks Figure Skating Club, $1,792, off-ice coach; Three Hills Minor Hockey Association, $1,400, first aid kits; Three Hills Gymnastics Club, $2,560, gymnastics equipment.

Council funds are used by local sport groups in innovative and productive ways, according to the Alberta Sport Council.

Whenever a group wishes financial assistance for projects related to sport development, all they need to do is contact the local Alberta Sport Council office and ask for the proper application form.

Kevin Kurtz

Kevin is a valuable member of the blueline brigade for the Didsbury Ramblers. He stands 5'11" tall and weighs 200 pounds. He last played organized hockey at the senior level with Carstairs. Kevin is owner/operator of Didsbury Meat Processors.

More hard times beset Ramblers

By Peter Crosby

Hard times continued for the Didsbury Ramblers in Chinook Hockey League play last week.

The Ramblers saw their record dip to 1-10 after an 11-3 loss at home Saturday to Trochu Blazers. This followed on the heels of an 11-6 loss to the Olds Elks in Olds Thursday.

Didsbury will try to get back in the win column with games this week in Hobbema on Wednesday, at Innisfail on Friday, and at home to Olds Elks this Saturday, 8:30 p.m.

In their latest game, the Ramblers found themselves down 3-1 to Trochu after the first period and 5-2 after 40 minutes before Trochu put them away with six goals in the third.

Leading the way for Trochu was Shawn Painter with five goals and two assists. Derrick Davidson and Brad Taylor notched two goals apiece, while Bill Winther and Mark Biggs had singletons.

For Didsbury, Greg Laveck, Darcy Pride and Jamie Jensen blinked the red light. Kevin Kurtz had two assists.

In the game at Olds, the Ramblers played well in the first period, taking a 2-1 lead to the dressing room at the intermission. But the roof caved in during the second 20 minutes when Olds scored seven unanswered goals to take an 8-2 lead.

League-leading scorer Rob Sklaruk added to his totals with four goals and an assist, pacing the Elks' attack. Pete Dickeau added three goals. Lars Olsen scored a pair and singles were scored by Ross Cromwell and Rick Lusik.

Captain Ed Krebs rifled home a pair for Didsbury, and Rob Brown also connected twice. Singles were scored by Darcy Conley and Greg Laveck. Kirk Poitras, Shane Krebs and Cyril Jensen earned two assists each.

Upcoming games

Wednesday, Dec. 11, Didsbury at Hobbema
Friday, Dec. 13, Didsbury at Innisfail
Saturday, Dec. 14, Olds at Didsbury, 8:30 p.m.

Great week for petite ringette team

Cremona Petites had a good game against Cochrane on Nov. 21, winning 15-1.

On Nov. 30, the girls had a game against Airdrie and won that one 8-2.

On the weekend of Dec. 7-8 the girls were entered in a fun tournament in Olds. Saturday morning they played against Innisfail and won that contest 9-1.

Saturday afternoon the girls played a tough game against Carstairs-Crossfield and pulled off a 10-5 win.

This put them in the A Final against the Olds Petite team. After two tough periods, the girls finished with a 5-1 win. The girls were very excited to win their first tournament.

The coaches were very proud of the skill and sportsmanship shown by the Cremona Petites.

Calgary rink wins Didsbury open

A Calgary rink won the Didsbury men's open curling bonspiel on the weekend.

Dennis Shupe skipped his team to victory over Andy Sweetman of Didsbury in the final Sunday afternoon.

Organizer Mike Phillips said it was the first open bonspiel for men held at the Didsbury Curling Club in the past five years.

"We didn't have a lot of rinks [10 entered but there were three cancellations] but we're trying to revive it," said Phillips.

Members of Sweetman's rink were Ron Sweetman, third, Shaun Kennedy, second and Rob Rapp, lead.

The Rod Collinge rink of Didsbury finished third.

The Didsbury club will be the scene of the men's regional playdowns this weekend, Dec.

13 to 15, although so far only two rinks have indicated they'll play. The winner will advance to the district playdowns in Red Deer.

Two other provincial playdowns are scheduled for Didsbury, the women's zone 2 playdowns, Jan. 2 to 5, and the junior men's, Jan. 10 to 13.

In tribute to the Badger

There once was a winner named Badger Bob Johnson, His life was ice hockey, he lived it . . . and then some. His battle with cancer well known to the sports fan, Pristine reputation as all around good man. Bob Johnson, a husband, a leader, a sharp mind, The kind of a person who benefits mankind. A GREAT DAY FOR HOCKEY! Those words will live on, And the Badger lives in them although he is gone. From tribute to tribute, each tribute the same thing. When Bob came along it made everyone's heart sing. The Flames to the US and back into coaching. Sharp pencil and pad meant some new plan approaching. A wreath was laid by Ole Berild on behalf of the lodge at the Memorial Service on Nov. 11.

Louise, Marion, Mel & Mil assisted with the bingo at the Mount View Lodge in Olds. The members always enjoy this project.

Members from Carstairs hosted the birthday party at the Chinook Winds Lodge in Carstairs on Nov. 21. There were about 60 residents at the party.

Congratulations to Linda Terning and Lisa Kamp, both of Carstairs, who received scholarships from the Foundation.

Olga informed us that the Hardanger classes will start on Jan. 7.

Sonia reported on the cabaret held in Huxley. This was hosted by Fjellsyn Lodge and the Fana Tullen Dancers from Red Deer and was a fundraising project for Ski-for-Light. Noreen thanked the committee for their efforts and Alma Wick for her donation for the raffle.

Did you see the Norwegian display at the museum? Thanks to Corliss Petersen who tastefully arranged the articles. Thanks to the members who sent their artifacts to be used in the display.

Three new members were voted on and approved, namely Marjorie Sather of Bowden and Svend & Esther Hansen of Innisfail, who are transferring from Northern Lights Lodge of North Battleford. We welcome these new members to our lodge.

Our Christmas party was held on Dec. 1, as usual it was a gala affair. The Scandinavian Choir from Calgary entertained. We all enjoyed them so much. Thanks for attending. Noreen gave a very informative and humorous talk. Thanks, Noreen.

Alissa and Lindsay Sakariassen sang a song in Norwegian. Thanks, girls.

There was the usual great supper, which everyone enjoyed. Even though we ran out of knives and forks--will be better next year.

There was singing around the Christmas tree and Santa brought candy bags and gifts for all the little people.

The Way of Life

The Promise of Christmas

One morning last week I watched the red glow of light in the east gradually change colors and before long the brilliant light of the sun appeared over the eastern horizon. It seemed like the messenger of the sun was telling us that it wouldn't be long until the full light of the sun would be here. In a very similar way God gave the promise of the birth of Jesus thousands of years before it actually took place.

The first announcement of hope was made by God right after Adam and Eve sinned in their rebellion against God. He indicated that the struggle between good and evil wasn't finished yet and that He would win in the end.

Several thousand years later God spoke through the prophet Isaiah saying, "The virgin shall be with child and will give birth to a son, and will call him Immanuel." Immanuel means "God with us."

In addition to these prophecies, God spoke in other times and places to the prophets about the coming of the person that we today know as Jesus Christ.

God had planned for the coming of the Saviour before He created the world and He prepared for it so that at exactly the right time Jesus would be born in Bethlehem. And this is what the celebration of Christmas is all about.

Christmas calls keep AGT busy

A rush of long distance calls by Yuletide well-wishers Christmas Day will keep AGT network facilities working to capacity.

On Dec. 25, AGT expects to complete about 723,000 long distance calls, up six percent from 683,000 long distance calls placed last year.

Christmas is one of the busiest calling days of the year—second only to Mother's Day. (More than 776,000 Mother's Day calls were placed in 1991.) The average length of a call on Christmas Day and Mother's Day is about eight minutes. The average length of a call on a normal business day is about three minutes.

To handle the large volume of calls, 252 AGT long distance operators throughout the province will be working Christmas Day to provide assistance on collect, person-to-person, third number billing and Calling Card calls.

Holiday rates

Reduced rates will be in effect Christmas Day and New Year's Day. Direct dialed, operator assisted, Calling Card, Automated Calling Card, and collect and third-number computerized voice calls made within Alberta, across Canada, and to Mexico and the U.S. (including Alaska and Hawaii) will be eligible for discounts of about 35 percent off the regular day rate. For even greater savings, calls placed within Canada and to the U.S. from midnight to 8 a.m. are eligible for discounts of about 60 percent off the regular day rate.

Normal rates will apply to direct distance dialed overseas calls.

Call early

Christmas Eve, Christmas

Day and New Year's Day are the heaviest calling periods. To ensure calls are connected quickly, telephone users may want to consider placing calls before December 24 or on Boxing Day.

Peak calling times on Christmas Day are from 7 a.m. to noon and from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Verify numbers in advance

AGT advises callers who do not have the telephone number they wish to reach, to call directory assistance now when operators are less busy. In Alberta, the directory assistance number is 1+555-1212. Outside the province the directory assistance number is 1 + area code + 1212. To obtain overseas numbers, dial '0' and ask the operator for assistance.

Take time zones into account

When calling another time zone, please check the time difference. It may mean the difference between an answered and unanswered call.

Video winner

Celina Hall of Didsbury, holding her daughter Tasia, was the winner of a limited edition copy of The Godfather, Parts 1 and 2, in a draw held at Didsbury Esso last week. Co-owner of the store, Wendy Seymour, made the presentation. Also on hand were the other two Hall children, Devlin and Mariah.

More enforcement in school zone

A four-way stop is not needed at an intersection near Ross Ford Elementary School, Didsbury town council decided last week.

Council made its decision based on a recommendation by Didsbury RCMP who looked into the matter.

A citizen had suggested to council that a four-way stop at the corner of 20th Avenue and 23rd Street was necessary to slow traffic in the area. There are currently stop signs controlling traffic running east and west on 20th Street.

RCMP said they would step up enforcement as a means of slowing traffic in the area, a designated school zone.

CREAM.
NOT THE SKIM.

Some newspapers don't get read—they get skimmed. Readers skim the headlines, the pictures, the ads. Not in The Review. The Review isn't filled with "canned" material like many newspapers. No photos from Lebanon, no syndicated columns from Ottawa, no wire service stories from other far-off places. The Review is filled every week with local stories and pictures about local people and local happenings. No wonder it's so well read. We give you the cream, not the skim.
